

PROTEINSCAPES

live drawn conference

cloise tyvantu

This zine captures traces of the Proteinscapes launch conference, held on June 12-13, 2025, at the University of Amsterdam.

Each page, drawn live, visualizes a talk — illustrated through my own interpretative choices as both a conference attendee and an artist.

To my wonderful research team.

To Ismail.

The protein paradox

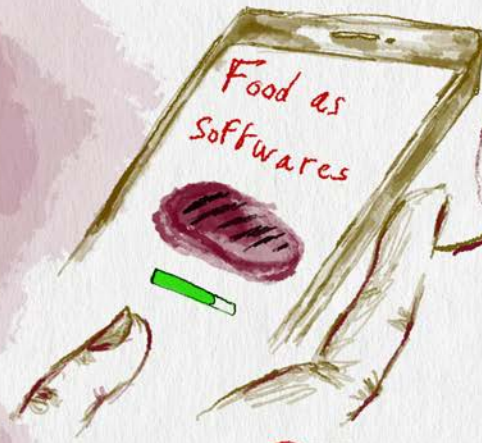

How do the materialities
of meat and dairy
become political?

Wille m
Botman

Place, protein and platform capitalism : fixing the food system

Alexandra Sexton

No disruption

You have to innovate in the right way

Who is to blame in this process of sense making?

Victor Muñoz Sanz

The cows were at the center. But not the violence of the livestock system

Cows as more than
nature

I am
imagined,
designed,
raised,
and

Killed

Porcine Landscapes

Julie Solerad

Nationalism as a spatial imaginary

Eimear McLoughlin

How do animals become meat?

Pigs are products
brought to life
by farmers

How do they resist the system?

A National
battleground

Am I
morally coherent?

elo

One or several
protein transition(s)?

Arve Hansen

A capitalist expansion in agriculture
for sure

Meat as a
"symbol of development"

We shouldn't
feel MEAT
SHAMED!

This one is my favorite:
The banh mi
Döner Kebab

elo

The gender of meat

Jonatan Leer

Feeding the Nation

and reproductive labor

The female and animal bodies are reduced to flesh
function

Natalia Hussein

How obstacles
to change emerge in
the everyday life?

Food work
and distinction

elo

Bram Van Vulpen

(finding EV data)

Where are the food valleys?

elo

Peace
Now

Metabolic Politics - Maan Barua

Rendering life into a productive order, or how Marx can help us understand the current metabolic shift

Life has been molecularized
A circular extractive
system

What was once a body, becomes the environment

elo

Eloise Ly Van Tu

Thinking about animal industrial complex in times of GENOCIDE.

Colonialism
as a multispecies
affair

How to decolonize our current food systems?

Milking the periphery as a western extractive project of land and bodily conquest

elo

What is it like to be a food geographer in times of genocide?

Jakub Cech

Conference dinner at PLANTAGE DOK

Hosted by the fundraiser

Ismail Ziada

